

On 3 April 2018 the law in England changed. The Homelessness Reduction Act means local councils now have to give more help to people who are homeless or might lose their homes. Everyone can now get free advice and more people can get support for longer. The attached user friendly documents show the steps the council will follow when you contact them:

Applying as homeless

Applying as threatened with homelessness

What the changes in homelessness law mean for you